

Daily News from EBV: EBV Elektronik is First in Semiconductor Distribution World Wide to Present a Market News Ticker: 'EBV Industry News'

Poing/Munich: EBV Elektronik, an Avnet (NYSE:AVT) company and leading specialist in EMEA's semiconductor distribution, now offers its customers – as the first company in the semiconductor industry – an exclusive new service on its homepage: the 'EBV Industry News'. The news ticker, in cooperation with 'EE Times Europe', provides all the latest news from the semiconductor industry, including actual market development, product news from suppliers as well as company news.

Bernd Schlemmer,
Director Communications

Bernd Schlemmer, Director Communications at EBV Elektronik, comments: "The 'EBV Industry News' ticker is truly an exceptional approach. This service, which is updated several times a day, offers our customers comprehensive information about the daily developments in our industry prepared by independent journalists. The new feature is for us the next logical step in the further development of www.ebv.com in becoming a leading service and information platform. We see our homepage as a portal for decision makers, purchasers, developers and industry end users. We make it a priority to serve these target groups at the highest level."
