
Harmonious and effective - the new Flat Pro Spotix by Cameo Light with COB technology and Single Pixel Control

Neu-Anspach, Germany, February 2015

With efficient lights and lighting effects using contemporary LED technology, Cameo Light has become a leading brand of lighting technology in a very short space of time. Now the manufacturer is extending its Flat Pro Series with two new PAR lights for professional use.

The models Spotix 4 and Spotix 7 are recommended for their flat, compact design, especially where space is limited. Both lights are fitted with long-lasting, 30 Watt Tri-Colour COB LEDs providing harmoniously blended RGB mixtures with a 30° beam angle. A special feature is the integrated Single Pixel Control, where each LED is individually controlled and thus effective Pixel-Mapping effects can be designed.

The Spotix lights can be controlled via six DMX modes or through music and operated as a Standalone, Master or Slave. The extensive range of equipment includes expressive automated programs, 3- and 5-pin XLR-sockets for the input and output of the DMX signal and Neutrik powerCon power couplings. With a completely flicker-free operation, both versions are perfectly suitable for TV and camera usage.

The Cameo Light Spotix models have a sturdy metal housing with universal mounting bracket; the convection cooling of the lights ensures low operating temperatures, effectively and silently. The operation is the same as for all Cameo products, comfortable and intuitive.
