COMPAREX Poland is Acknowledged “Red Hat Linux’ best partner in 2009” Award by Polish Deputy Prime Minister Waldemar Pawlak

Warsaw, July 20th, 2010 – In the course of the 2010 Open Source Day in May, COMPAREX Poland was awarded for its outstanding overall efforts in the area of alternative database systems and application environments as Red Hat Linux’ best partner in 2009. In attendance of 600 guests the award was handed over by Waldemar Pawlak, the Polish Deputy Prime Minister and Minister of the Economy.

COMPAREX Poland received the award for implementing alternative database systems, application environments and key projects. “With our expertise we are able to bring large savings for many of our customers especially in the public sector, and thus, after all, to the Polish tax payer”, says Filip Krokowski, General Manager COMPAREX Poland. “This award acknowledges the strong know-how of our team.”

This year’s Open Source Day was held in the Palace of Culture and Science in Warsaw. It is the largest conference with regard to Open Source and its applications in various fields of the national economy in Poland. The conference was hosted under the honorary patronage of the Polish Ministry of National Economy. The event was attended by organizations from the public sector and other branches of national economy.
