

Mini Chat Board for the PlayStation®3

Communication made easy

Weertzen, 7 January 2009 – SPEEDLINK®, one of Europe's leading brands for computer and video accessories, presents its Mini Chat Board: a wireless, mini-format keyboard for the PlayStation®3. The Mini Chat Board makes it easy to input text and communicate online. Messaging while playing a game, writing messages as well as editing PS3 user profiles and surfing the net are all made very easy. The Mini Chat Board is attached to the PS3 controller by means of a clip. This makes it easy to switch from entering text using the gamepad to using the Mini Chat Board.

One key feature of the Mini Chat Board from the brand SPEEDLINK is the integration of smiley icons. It's possible to express your feelings very quickly using these much-loved icons; what's more, the specially laid-out keys speed up communications a great deal.

The SPEEDLINK Mini Chat Board is fitted with two clips. Using the first clip, the compact keyboard can easily be attached to an original Sony® PS3 controller. A second clip allows the keyboard to be used with a SPEEDLINK Strike<sup>3</sup> gamepad.

The layout of the keys is based on the standard layout of a PC keyboard.

The Mini Chat Board connects to the PS3 via the 2.4GHz USB receiver. In addition to that, the Mini Chat Board can be connected to the PC and the Xbox 360. The supplied AA batteries power the Mini Chat Board.

The Mini Chat Board will be available in January 2009 for a RRP of €29.99.
