

Press Release

www.powerone-batteries.com has a new look!

Ellwangen, 13 September 2011

VARTA Microbattery's power one website has been updated with a brand new appearance and comprehensive information.

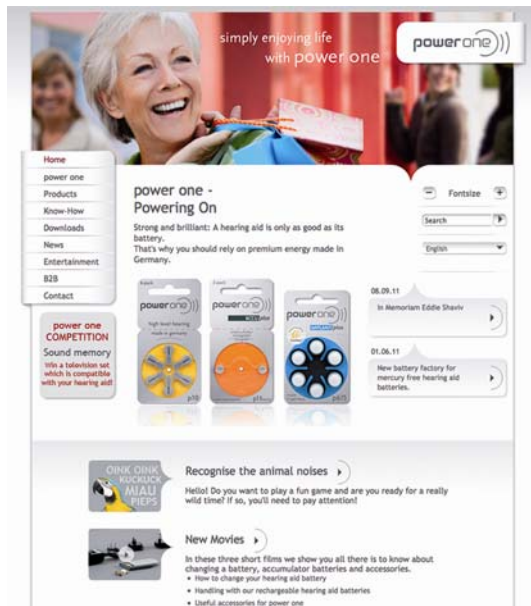

VARTA Microbattery has redesigned its internet presence of the brand power one. Recently www.powerone-batteries.com has presented itself in a new design with interesting and useful information for people with hearing loss.

The new homepage invites visitors into the world of power one. In more than 60 internet pages power one presents information to people with hearing loss about products and knowledge around hearing in general, plus hearing aid battery news. Due to the worldwide recognition of power one, the pages are available in the German, English, French, Italian, Spanish, Portuguese, Russian, Japanese and Chinese.

According to Herbert Schein, CEO of VARTA Microbattery GmbH, the interests of people who wear a hearing aid were considered. The modern and bright page design is also designed for people who have poor vision and eases reading from the monitor screen.

It is worth visiting the new power one internet page regularly to keep up with news and updates. For the launch we are offering a fantastic competition with exciting prizes. Moreover, power one has taken care to include children – with a fun game to recognize animal noises.
